The Expert Commission, Indices Committee also confirms the following modification in the eligibility of stocks for inclusion in Euronext Paris indices:

Current rule: Index components are selected regardless of where the issuing company is registered, provided that its head-office activities are conducted primarily in France and that trading in its shares on the Euronext Paris market is sufficiently representative of overall trading in those shares.

Rule applying from 23 February 2007: Index components are selected regardless of where the issuing company is registered. Eligibility for inclusion in the index depends on a group of criteria: free-float market capitalisation, its turnover on Euronext Paris, and the presence of business assets and/or significant head-office activities in France.

Criteria for the selection of components of the CAC 40 index at quarterly reviews were also adjusted:

Current rule: At each quarterly review, the components of the selection universe are ranked according to two criteria: free-float market capitalisation and liquidity, in decreasing order. Liquidity is measured by turnover (in euros), number of transactions, velocity ratio, and bid and ask spread calculated on the basis of daily data over the 12 months prior to the review.

Rule applying from 23 February 2007: At each quarterly review, the components of the selection universe are ranked by free float market capitalisation and turnover, in decreasing order. Turnover is based on daily data over the 12 months prior to the review.
