Project: Alternext All-Share Index

Alternext® All-Share index set for launch on 4 September 2006

As announced on 14 June and 25 July 2006, the Alternext All-Share index will be launched on 4 September, as part of the Alternext market's continued momentum towards growth.

Tracking the combined performance of all shares on the Alternext market, the new index, which is weighted by market capitalisation, will be calculated daily. The index base is 1,000 at 30 December 2005.

The makeup of the index will change with each new listing and delisting. Newly listed companies will be included two weeks after the date on which their shares begin trading.

On 4 September, the Alternext All-Share index will therefore be made up of the 57 stocks currently traded on Alternext, of which 54 are listed in Paris and three in Brussels. On the basis of market capitalisation, which currently totals approximately €2.5 billion, on 28 August 2006 the index showed a rise of some 19.5% since the beginning the year.

The Alternext All-Share index is designed both as a tool for the management of portfolios specialised in small and mid-cap stocks and as a vehicle for the promotion of listed companies, helping them to reach a broader audience within the financial community.

Please see the two tables below for the index specifications and the composition of the Alternext All-Share Index at 4 September 2006.
