PROJECT: Universal Trading Platform – Market Data Feed

Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed EUA test platform closed: 7 October 2008 – 14 October 2008

Further to the info-flash of 26 September 2008 regarding the External User Acceptance test platform upgrade, NYSE Euronext would like to inform clients that the upgrade is not yet complete due to technical issues which have arisen during the installation phase.

In order to resolve these issues, the UTP-MD External User Acceptance (EUA) test platform will be unavailable for external testing on the following dates:

- From Tuesday, 7 October 2008 in the evening: the UTP-MD EUA test platform was closed for customer testing as from 18.00 CET
- Until Tuesday, 14 October 2008 in the morning: from this date the EUA test platform will be fully available again for testing as from 05.30 CET, including the following evolutions:
 - o Retransmission facility
 - o Increase of the number of multicast groups from two to four.

The closure of this part of the EUA test platform is specific to the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed only and does not affect any other tests that are currently being carried out on the EUA test platform.

Please note that an additional communication will be sent this week regarding updated EUA technical documentation.

For further information regarding functional or technical questions, please contact the UTP Market Data team by e-mail or by phone:
