PROJECT: Universal Trading Platform – Market Data Feed

Launch of the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed in pre-production

NYSE Euronext is pleased to inform clients of the opening of the new Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed on the production environment as a pre-production feed. Please see below for further details.

Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed in pre-production:

- As from yesterday, 15 January 2009, the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed is available as a pre-production feed for MMBA customers. The purpose of this pre-production phase is to give clients the opportunity to validate and/or optimise their development using a real production feed.
- The pre-production feed sources all production data from both the Universal Trading Platform and NSC trading engines and its retransmission facility is active. However, high availability features are not implemented in this pre-production feed and therefore clients cannot use it for their own purposes on the production platform for Euronext regulated markets. The pre-production feed may, however, be used to trade on NYSE Arca Europe.
- The production date for the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed for all Euronext regulated markets will be announced shortly.

Please note that:

- Attached to this info-flash is a list of residual known issues on the pre-production feed
- The pre-production version of the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed will be sent in parallel to and on the same circuit as the EMF Production Feed.
- In order to receive the pre-production feed (and at a later stage the production feed), clients will have to subscribe to the pre-production version of the Universal Trading Platform Market Data Feed. All technical configuration information is available in the dedicated documentation:
 - UTP-MD specification - “Generic Customer Specifications” v1.2
 - UTP-MD Production configuration - “UTP-MD Production Feed Configuration” v1.5
- The full list of Retransmission Source IDs for the production environment will be sent next week.
