DB X-TRACKERS LISTS 14 NEW ETFs ON EURONEXT PARIS INCLUDING SEVEN ETFs ON SHORT INDICES

PARIS/LONDON 27 May 2009 – Deutsche Bank has expanded the range of db x-trackers ETFs available in France by listing 14 new products on NYSE Euronext's Paris market. The new listings feature a number of products available for the first time in France including seven ETFs tracking short or inverse indices:

- Short European Sectors – for the first time in France gain short exposure to short sector indices on Banks, Oil & Gas, Healthcare, Technology and Telecommunications
- S&P 500 Short – inverse performance of US large capitalisation stocks
- FTSE 100 Short – inverse performance of UK large capitalisation stocks
- FTSE Vietnam – gain exposure to the largest and most liquid stocks on the Vietnam stockmarket
- S&P/ASX 200 – performance of the largest capitalisation stocks in Australia
- Russell 2000 – gain exposure to US small capitalisation stocks

“We are excited to be listing 14 new ETFs on Euronext Paris especially as many of these products are available to investors for the first time in France,” commented Thorsten Michalik, head of db x-trackers. “We now offer a broad range of ETFs which provide the core portfolio building blocks as well as the tactical investment tools with our short and money market ETFs.”

Scott Ebner, Senior Vice President, European Exchange Traded Products NYSE Euronext, said, “These new Deutsche Bank products are a welcome addition for investors who are increasingly focused on ETFs as they seek innovative solutions to meet their asset allocation and trading needs.”

db x-trackers now offers 37 ETFs in France including 10 ETFs on short indices. Below is the full list of the new db x-trackers ETFs being listed on Euronext Paris.
