SUSTAINABLE GROWTH

 EURONEXT

Leading the way to a low carbon future and Net-zero targets

The objective of the CAC SBT 1.5° is to help investors identify companies that are actively contributing to a more sustainable future through an index which selects companies that have set science-based targets approved by the SBTi. The methodology also includes exclusions based on involvement in controversial weapons, tobacco, fossil fuel or flagged as controversial activities with regards to the United Nations Global Compact principles. The index has been designed in collaboration with CDP and SBTi.

Created in 2015, the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) is a partnership between CDP, World Resources Institute (WRI), the World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF), and the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC); enabling businesses and financial institutions to set ambitious emissions reduction targets in line with climate science. It is focused on accelerating companies across the world to cut emissions by half before 2030 and achieve net-zero emissions before 2050. Science-based targets provide companies and financial institutions with a clearly-defined pathway to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in line with the Paris Agreement goals.

The SBTi promotes best practice in science-based target setting, provides resources and guidance to reduce barriers to adoption, and independently assesses and approves companies and financial institutions' targets against rigorous and public criteria. Targets are considered 'science-based' if they are in line with what the latest climate science deems necessary to meet the goals of the Paris Agreement – limiting global warming to 1.5°C above pre-industrial levels. More than 4,000 businesses and financial institutions have committed or set targets through the SBTi.
