To the attention of:	Intermediaries, Issuers and their Service Providers, Paying Agents
Priority:	High
Topic:	CA4U: Go-Live rescheduling

Euronext Securities Milan would like to inform participants that the CA4U go-live will not take place on 30 November 2026.

Throughout the testing phase, the ongoing dialogue and collaboration between Euronext Securities Milan and market participants have highlighted the benefits of allowing additional testing time and an extended preparation window to ensure a smooth and successful migration.

Following a joint review of the testing progress and an assessment of the overall programme readiness, Euronext Securities Milan has identified 8 February 2027 as the new target go-live date for CA4U.

The additional time will be used to complete the remaining testing activities and further strengthen operational readiness, with the shared objective of ensuring a stable and successful migration across the market.

We would like to thank all market participants for their continued engagement, collaboration, and commitment throughout the programme.

For any questions regarding this communication, please contact your usual Euronext Securities Milan representative.
