Reducing the impact of changes in technology

Service model

X2M is based on a value-added co-operation/co-opetition model focused on systems integration and project management activities with excellent partners.

X2M provides customers with the opportunity to:

- reduce the impact of technology changes

- rationalise the infrastructures connecting their market and financial services

- compress the start-up phase

- reduce operating costs

- achieve high performance and reliability by defining efficient architectures

- join a community able to generate new services and new service models.

"Customers can compress start-up and reduce costs."
